

TAFT APPROVES TWO
CENT MAGAZINE RATEFORWARDS REPORT OF POSTAL COMMISSION TO CONGRESS
WITH HIS APPROVAL.

COMMISSION IS ACTIVE

Commission Decides That Two Cents
Rate on Second Class Matter Will Not Hurt Publishers.

Washington, Feb. 22.—President Taft today approved and forwarded to Congress the report of the commission on second class matter and recommending that the postal rate on magazines and newspapers be raised from one cent to two cents a pound.

Postmaster General Hitchcock originally recommended a four cent rate, but later changed it to two. The commission finds that the cost of handling second class matter is about five and a half cents a pound. In approving the two cent rate, however, President Taft declares that the business enterprises of the publishers of periodicals have been built up on the basis of the one cent rate and therefore it would be manifestly unfair to put into immediate effect a larger increase in postage.

As to the effect of the proposed increase from one to two cents a pound President Taft quotes from a report of the postal commission, the following paragraph:

Brings No Distress

"Such an increase will not, in the opinion of the commission, bring distress upon the publishers of newspapers and periodicals, or seriously interfere with the dissemination of useful news or information. A reasonable time should be allowed after the rate is fixed, before it is put into effect. While the new rate will be very far from compensating the Government for the carriage and handling of second class matter, it will, to some extent, relieve the existing burden and result in a more equitable adjustment of rates."

That newspapers and magazines have been potent agencies for the dissemination of public intelligence and consequently have borne a worthy part in the development of the country, Mr. Taft says, all must admit.

Cost Versus Service

"But" he adds "it is likewise true that the article of Congress in providing for them a subvention by way of nominal postal charges in consideration of their value as mediums of public information ought not to prevent an increase, because they are now not only educational, but highly profitable. There is no warrant for the great disparity between existing postage rates on periodicals and the cost of the service the Government performs for them. The aggregate postal revenues for the fiscal year 1911 were $237,879,829.00, derived mainly from postage collected on the four classes of mail matter. It is carefully estimated by the Post Office Department that the revenue derived from mail matter of the first class is approximately one and one-half times the cost of handling and carriage; that the returns from third and fourth class matter are slightly in excess of their cost of handling and carriage; that the returns from third matter embraces over 65 per cent of the entire weight of the mail carried, it nevertheless yields little more than 5 per cent of the postal revenue."

Commission Confirms

The postal commission on second class matter was appointed by President Taft following the controversy caused by the Postmaster General's original recommendations for the increase in rates. The matter was taken up by many publishers before committees of Congress and a sharp issue was raised as to the correctness of the Postoffice Department's figures. Congress finally passed a joint resolution authorizing the appointment of the commission which was made up of Augustine L. Hughes, of the Supreme Court; President A. Lawrence Lowell, of Harvard University; and Harry A. Wheeler, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

The findings of the commission view that the cost of handling and transporting second class matter is greatly in excess of the postage paid, and that an increase in the rate is not only justified by the facts, but is desirable.

Is Now Self Sustaining

"The postal service is now, for the first time in years, operated upon a self sustaining basis, and in my judgment this is a wise policy; but it should not be carried out at the expense of certain classes of mail matter that pay revenue largely in excess of their cost. It is not just that some classes of mail should be exempted from taxation to meet a deficiency caused by other classes, the revenue from which is much below their cost of handling and carriage. Where such inequalities exist they should be removed as early as practicable."

The proposed increase of one cent a pound is, to be most reasonable and if sufficient, to be allowed before the work goes into effect. It should be changed into effect to the business of the periodical publishers, while equalizing at least in a measure, the burden of postal taxation.

Another suggestion of the commission, which was given the President's approval would abolish the "cent-a-copy" rate for newspapers other than weeklies when mailed at a letter carrier office for local delivery.

OFFICERS OF CASH
REGISTER COMPANY
FACE INDICTMENTSCriminal Violations of Sherman Law
Charged Cincinnati Corporation
—Adams Express Co., Ltd.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 22.—Officials and employees of the National Cash Register company of Dayton, Ohio, were indicted on charges of criminal violation of the Sherman anti-trust law by a special federal grand jury here today.

The Adams Express company was indicted on eleven counts charged with having attempted to collect more than established rates.

Seven Cincinnati manufacturing firms also were indicted, charged with attempting to secure transportation at lower rates than those established by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The following officials of the National Cash Register company are included among those named in indictments: John A. Patterson, president; E. A. Deede, vice president; G. C. Edgerton, secretary; W. F. Bishop, treasurer.

There are three counts in the indictment against the official and employees of the register company. The first count charges that nearly all competitors concerned have been bought or driven out of business.

It is charged that restraint has been in operation for the last twenty years although the specific charge is confined to the last three years. It is said to have been effected by bribing employees of competitors and telegraph companies and injuring the credits of competitors in libeling their machines.

The second and third counts charge the defendants with monopolizing the cash register business by the same means. The thirty indictments are against the officials and sales agents of the company.

Specifically it was charged that competitors were driven out of business by interference of the employees of competitors by libeling the machines of competitors, cutting prices, selling imitations of competing machines made to use as "knockers" and injuring competitive machines in every possible way.

It also was charged that the company's selling plan included the threatening of suits merely for the purpose of harassing manufacturers and purchasers and in organizing bogus corporations pretending to be competitors as well as making applications for patents on the machines and improvements invented by competitors.

Table.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
San Francisco, Feb. 22.—A collection of diamonds and pearls, valued at $50,000 was stolen from Mrs. Eugene De Sabla at her apartment in a hotel here yesterday. The jewels had been worn to the annual Mardi Gras ball, a notable society event at the Grand hotel, and had been left on the chiffonier by Mrs. De Sabla when she retired. Her husband, entering the room an hour later, discovered the theft which did not become known until today.

Among the gems stolen was a diamond tiara, a pearl brooch, a diamond bracelet, several diamond rings, diamond earrings, and a diamond studded cigarette case.

Paris, Feb. 22.—A number of dynamite bombs were exploded by striking taxicab chauffeurs in the garages of the Taxi Motor Cab company which had not accepted the terms of the strikers. Many cars were burned and otherwise damaged. One of the bombs was picked up by the police and was being carried to the municipal laboratories when it exploded severely injuring two officials. Neither the companies nor strikers show signs of giving way. The conflict has lasted since Nov. 28 and 6,500 of the taxicab cabs in Paris have been idle since that date.

Hits His Own Baby.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Rhinecland, Wis., Feb. 22.—In a fit of anger caused by the persistency of the son of his landlord after rent due, H. F. Smith of this city yesterday threw a hatchet at the boy, which missed him and hit Smith's eight months old child which was held in its mother's arms. The blade splashed through the skull inflicting a deep cut five inches long and very deep, and the babe is hovering near death today.

Smith says he had promised to pay his rent Saturday but his landlord says his son collected Monday, and angry words resulted. Smith became incensed and grabbing a hatchet he threw it at the boy collector. Mrs. Smith, with her child in her arms, tried to stop her husband from throwing it and ran between the two and the hatchet struck the babe in the head. Smith was immediately put under arrest and is almost crazed with grief.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Rome, Feb. 22.—Imposing ceremonies marked the opening of the Italian chamber of deputies today. Thomas J. O'Brien, the United States ambassador to Italy, was in the diplomatic tribune. Another spectator was a lawyer named Salim from Salonika, who is supposed to be in Rome as the representative of the Young Turks to ascertain in an unofficial way on what terms peace between Turkey and Italy might be concluded. When Giuseppe Marcora, the speaker of the chamber of deputies, spoke the greetings of the deputies to the Italian soldier and sailors "who are engaged in fighting to uphold the honor of Italy in Tripoli," his words were greeted by a hurricane of applause lasting over two minutes. The usual festivity reached its greatest height when Premier Giolitti presented the royal decree proclaiming the annexation of Tripoli and asking the house to transform it into law.

STATE NELSON GIRL
WAS NOT A SUICIDEFurther Inquiry Into Death of Hutchinson, Kansas, Girl Made Today.—
Intimate, Friend Play.

Hutchinson, Kans., Feb. 22.—Investigation of the mysterious death of Miss Edna Nelson, ward of the late Dr. E. E. Richardson, took on a new color today when the fact that the girl was a spiritualist, was advanced in support of the theory that she had committed suicide.

Miss Nelson's body was found in the home of her wealthy guardian last Saturday. It was a strange situation, the police say, that found the twenty-five years old girl to the man of seventy-three years.

When he died of heart disease, Miss Nelson threw herself up on the body, crying, "Oh! My darling, speak to me," and she never ceased to mourn him after her own death.

"What have I to live for and can never love another," she told Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson, according to testimony at the coroner's inquiry. "Ours were twin spirits. To live alone without him is impossible for me. What must be the sorrow of an spirit wandering alone in that strange world calling for me to come over."

To her sister Edie, who found her body, she requested that when she died she be buried by the side of her guardian. The wish was carried out.

Coroner Williams advanced the fact that the bullet entered her left side above the ear. The girl was right handed, and the coroner says that she would not have fired the bullet. That weapon used was taken from a dresser in the girl's room.

Testimony from expert physicians has caused the coroner to reject the suicide theory advanced by the girl's relatives and neighbors. Search was continued for a strange man who is said to have entered the Richardson home an hour before the girl was found dead.

New York, Feb. 22.—A sharp police supervision of taxicab chauffeurs is being urged by members of the police department as a means of preventing and checking the numerous automobile robberies which are perpetrated daily by bands of motor car highwaymen.

Investigation of taxicab chauffeurs in the city show that no less than twenty licensed chauffeurs have served terms in Indiana prisons while over one hundred chauffeurs are said to have criminal records. The detection of crime such as the recent holdup of bank messengers is made extremely difficult by the taxicab which is used in the "get-away."

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—Democratic tariff revision will be assigned for hearing before the senate committee of finance as fast as they are sent over from the house. The adoption of the plan by republican leaders is the only progress the senate has made in arranging for the disposition of the big tariff problem before Congress.

Several progressive republican Senators, Cummins, Hristow and Harman, had conferred informally over the tariff plans, but no definite policy has been formulated by that balance of power of the republican party in the senate and the democratic senators are equally inactive awaiting action by the committee.

With the arrival of the chemical tariff revision bill passed by the house yesterday and presented for reference to the finance committee by the senate today there were two measures slated for senate hearings.

DISCUSS RELATION OF THE LIBRARIES TO PUBLIC SCHOOLS

SESSION OF CONVENTION THIS MORNING OF INTEREST TO TEACHERS AND LIBRARIANS.

GIVE GOOD ADDRESSES

At Meeting Last Night By Miss Stearns and Miss Hazeltine. Men Interested in Program This Afternoon.

With the session this morning the twenty-fifth annual convention of the Wisconsin Librarians was formally opened and all indications point to one of the largest and most interesting meetings in the history of the organization.

Mayor Nichols in his address of welcome said:

"Ladies and Gentlemen of the State Library Association. As Mayor of the City of Janesville it becomes my privilege and pleasure to extend to your organization a most cordial welcome. While I appreciate that this ceremony of welcome is more or less a mere official formality, yet I would impress upon you that this city appreciates the importance of your conference and is interested in its success. Your work tends towards the refinement and elevation of the masses and in that respect it is most important part of our civic duty. To bring to the people an acquaintance with the master minds of the past and to keep them in touch with the events of the present is indeed a most important undertaking. The dividends derived from your employment are not measured in money but in the richer medium of exalted citizenship. I want you to feel that the Citizens of this city are interested in your endeavor and are willing to assist you in every possible manner. As for the City Government, let me assure you that its service and assistance is subject to your command."

"In conclusion then, let me repeat, that the city of Janesville extends you its most cordial welcome together with its best wishes for a pleasant and profitable meeting."

Judge Charles E. Finkel gave a short address as acting president of the association and Superintendent H. C. Inell of this city took charge of the meeting. The topics considered this morning were of special interest to teachers as well as to the librarians and the general opinion of the various speakers was in favor of greater co-operation on the part of the public libraries and the public schools.

Library Versus School. Miss Mary A. Smith of Madison opened the discussion of this important relation of the schools and libraries with an able paper on the topic, "What the Library Needs From the Schools." She was inclined to take some of the teachers in the schools to task for indifference to the possibilities which the library affords and urged on them a greater interest in books and library work for the pupils. All students above the fifth grade, in her opinion, should be required to do a certain amount of reading in the library in order to gradually instill the habit of use of the library in the child's mind.

Some helpful discussion followed this talk in which several teachers came forward to defend their cause. It was the expression of one teacher that the librarians should extend their interest beyond the walls of the building. They should go to the schools, if possible, and talk to the children and aid in bringing the library interest to the teachers and pupils.

System at Madison. Thomas Lloyd Jones, principal of the high school at Madison, gave a very able exposition of the manner in which the public library and the high school had cooperated at Madison. By establishing a high school reference library with a member of the public library staff in charge and transferring all the high school books to this addition, many of the difficulties and much of the friction between teachers and librarians had been entirely eliminated. He believed that the case of Madison was typical of conditions that existed in nearly all the high schools and advocated the extension of the plan as far as possible.

"The library and the school," he said, "are servants of the same people and must look for greater harmony. They have both similar responsibilities for the public and they should work jointly to meet the task."

Miss Mary E. Watkins, in charge of the high school reference library at Madison, continued the discussion of the plan evolved at Madison. She went into detail regarding the methods and system employed and explained how the problems were met.

The morning session was closed with an able paper by Miss Louise Eneking of the Oakshosh normal school on the topic, "Teaching Library Methods in Normal Schools." Miss Eneking told of the work which was done at Oakshosh and what it was planned to accomplish. It was the plan of the course which they offered there to fit the student in the matter of the use of books and to teach how to secure a response from the students which they will teach.

Afternoon Meeting. The meeting this afternoon was more largely attended than the morning gathering. The program was designed to especially interest the men and a large number of business and professional men were present to hear the able talks by the various speakers.

The speakers included: President, Charles McKenny of the Milwaukee library board, C. E. McLennan of the Milwaukee library, Carl B. Roden of Chicago, and State Senator W. H. Hutton of New London.

The speaker this evening will be Mrs. Gudrun Thorne-Thomsen of Chicago, who has a national reputation for her work with children and for her advocacy of the story-telling method. Her topic will be, "The Educational Value of Children's Literature."

Mrs. Thorne-Thomsen told a number of stories to several hundred children at the children's library this afternoon.

Session Last Evening. Although the convention was formally opened this morning the first session was held last evening and was attended by a crowd which filled the library hall to its capacity.

The program was one calculated to entertain those not initiated in library work as well as the librarians attending and was a success from every viewpoint. Miss L. E. Stearns of the state library school read a paper on "Books of 1911," following the opening selection by the Janesville Symphony Orchestra. With such a broad scope to be treated in a short paper, Miss Stearns confined her remarks to which were very pertinent in all cases, to the treatment of the best books, and the "best-sellers," published during the past year.

It was noted that the subject matter of the majority of books in 1911 had to do with the following topics, first, Dickens, on account of the celebration of his centenary, then Arnold Bennett, third Ray Stiles, and fourth books on women and various problems which have arisen in regard to them in recent times.

Tendency to Individualism. Miss Stearns briefly commented on the various books which she chose to speak of during the session. In regard to fiction she stated that the number of books of this classification were in the majority last year. Women fiction had taken a place in the foreground and an example of which she gave in Margaret Deland's "The Armed Woman," which she stated was the most tremendously gripping story for women, but it will not appeal to the average man. Other books of fiction which she found good and which were especially mentioned were "The Broad Highway," and "The Money Moon," by Jeffrey Farrol and "The Predical Judge," by Vaughan Kester.

Miss Stearns warned librarians especially in the selection of their books to beware of the prevalent tendency of a number of authors to emphasize individualism against family life and family ties. She severely criticized books of the nature of Shaw's "Man and Superman," Chamber's "The Common Law," Phillips' "Grain of Dust," and novels by Upton Sinclair.

Books of travel, philosophy, and history were mentioned and commented upon. On the subject of books on women, the speaker declared that the women, by Jane Addams of "Twenty Years in Hull House," was by far the best and should be found in every library. Miss Stearns' talk proved very interesting and showed a mastery of the subject which would only be possible for a thorough library student.

Miss Hazeltine, also of the state library school, gave a delightful talk on the topic, "Books to Read for Pleasure." She began with an appreciation of the poems of Emily Dickinson and certainly found to be refreshing books which give pleasure. Other books which she mentioned as being especially good with pleasure were "The Good Old Books," Prof. Henry's "Study of Prose Fiction," Hugh Black's "Friendship," and others.

Miss Hazeltine found what she called the hope of progress in three subjects which were bound to occupy the minds of the present and coming generation: woman and her status, patriotism, and the peace movement.

Dramatic Readings. The last number on the program consisted of a dramatic reading of three plays written by William Butler Yeats. The readings were given by the persons representing the various characters who were arranged on the platform in a semi-circle and who merely read the lines as their turns came all remaining seated.

The effectiveness of the rendition can only be realized by persons who saw it, for the interpretation of these delightful Irish plays in this manner was usually pleasing and entertaining.

The characters for two of the plays were taken as follows: Peter Gilbane, Dr. Thwaites; Michael Gilbane, his son, soon to be married, Mr. Jilson; Patrick Gilbane, a lad of twelve, Michael's brother, Mr. Dudgeon; Bridget Gilbane, Peter's wife, Della Cahel, engaged to Michael.

The poor old woman (Symbolizing patriotism) Mrs. Jilson. A Pot of Broth. A Haggard man, Dr. Thwaites; John Conely, Mr. Jilson; Sibby Conely, Mrs. Thwaites; Stage directions, Miss Hazeltine.

Music at the program last night aside from the opening of a solo by Mr. Pearson of Beloit which called for an encore, and a selection by the Lotus male quartette of this city. Friday's program will be as follows:

Business session. Secretary's report. Treasurer's report. Reports of committees. New business.

Announcement of the State Association with the National Association, Mr. M. S. Dudgeon, Madison. Advertising the library, Mr. Paul H. Neyatrom, Oakshosh.

Civic pride in the history, Miss Maude van Buren, Madison. After the address, the following subjects will be discussed:

EVANSVILLE PLAYS
LOCAL TEAM FRIDAY

Change is Made to Original Date Scheduled Following Postponement of Debate.

Evansville's High School basketball team will try conclusions with the local aggregation here tomorrow evening. This game has been a sort of a puzzle to the Evansville manager in so far as its schedule has been concerned. It was first scheduled for the twenty-third of February and later was postponed on account of the inter-scholastic debate which was scheduled for the same evening. Owing to this, the date was set for Saturday the twenty-fourth, and since the debate has been postponed at the last minute, the game will take place as originally scheduled.

For the local quintet, this season has been one of victories and many of the strongest teams in the southern district have been defeated. Although the Evansville boys will put up a hard fight still it is hardly fair to assume that they will be able to win. Nevertheless if they should turn the tables Janesville's chances would be lessened for entrance in the Appleton tournament.

Coach McMurray today received word from Appleton that the records of the season up to the present time show seven teams still in the race in this district, namely: Racine, Koshong, Janesville, Jefferson, Columbus, Harbison and Madison. Of course undoubtedly Madison, Harbison and Janesville are the strongest. Jefferson will have to play the local team here and if they are defeated, Janesville's entrance will almost be a certainty. The tournament will be held March twenty-ninth and thirtieth.

JANESVILLE "Y" LOST TO MILTON COLLEGE

College Boys Take Game by 24 to 17
Score After Janesville Had Benton in First Half.

When the local Y. M. C. A. basketball team left the city last evening for Milton college they were determined to make up for the defeat at Monroe but they were forced to hand over the game by a score of 24 to 17. Although they ended the first half with the score 10 to 4 in their favor they were again unable to hold the pace during the second half and were outplayed. The college boys were right on the job with some good snappy team work and deserve all they got for their excellent playing. While everyone of the Janesville boys succeeded in making at least one basket the Milton lads were content to let their two forwards do all the throwing. The lineups and scores were as follows:

Janesville, 17. Milton, 24.
Porter.....R.G..... North, Crandall
Koch.....L.F..... Nelson
Kopp.....C..... Kelly, North
Brown.....L.G..... Dunn
Mott.....R.G..... Ernst

How to Tell Age of Fishes.

The ages of fishes can be told by their otoliths. Otoliths are little bony concretions found in the auditory apparatus which assist in the auditory work. The otoliths grow every year, forming one ring in summer and one ring in winter. The ring formed in spring and summer is light, the ring formed in autumn and winter is dark. The rings are very distinct and the fish has a pair—a light one and a dark one, for every year it has lived.—Harper's Weekly.

Placing the Incense Plant.

For many centuries the incense plant had been in Christian churches before it really became identified botanically. Sir George Hurdwell, a distinguished English botanist, and for many years special technical adviser to the India office, is given credit for the identity of the plant. Acting on his suggestion men were sent out into South Arabia and the Somali country, returning with specimens of what Sir George had been seeking.

WINNING INTERNATIONAL SKI EVENT

Chicago, Ill.—Lars Haugen, bearing the Red Star of the Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin, Ski Club, was the victor on Sunday last at a professional championship competition in the National Ski Association Tournament held under the auspices of the Norge Club at Cary, Illinois. The two-day meet came to a conclusion before the greatest crowd that ever witnessed this thrilling pastime in this section of the country. Haugen made two jumps, one of 121 and one of 123 feet, capturing the professional honors and winning the National Association gold medal and a cash prize of $75. Sigurd Hanson, of Forest Falls, Minn., was awarded second place, and Edling Landvik, representing Stockholm, Wis., took third place. The tournament was a success in every way.

PATENT MEDICINES
FAIL TO RELIEVE

WELL KNOWN LOCAL MAN HIGHLY PRAISES UNITED DOCTORS' HE HAD ASTHMA

How often people make the mistake of trying to cure themselves of some ailment that requires the skill of an expert specialist. People however, have some excuse for this after first trying doctors and failing to obtain benefit. Mr. John Bottoms, who lives at 407 Powell Street, Streator, Ill., has been a sufferer from asthma for the last ten years. In a statement made for publication Mr. Bottoms says: "For the last ten years I have been a sufferer from asthma, coughing nearly all the time and at night could not sleep. I had to sit up in bed owing to the constant attacks. I tried several doctors and nearly all patent medicines advertised to cure asthma, but instead of getting better I grew worse. As a last chance I went to the United Doctors. I began getting better almost from the start. Now after six weeks' treatment I feel like a new man and sleep well. My cough no longer bothers me and I have no more bad spells." The above statement is but one of hundreds that the United Doctors have received from patients from all over the country. The United Doctors' Janesville Institute has a reputation throughout the state and it is a small wonder when one considers the daily cures they are making of diseases and ailments after all other doctors have failed in the same cases.

The Janesville Institute is in the Hayes Block, corner of Milwaukee and Main Sts.

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

Today in every state of the union, the birthday of George Washington, our first President, is observed as a holiday. Wherever the stars and stripes fly the day is one to be marked on the calendar. We associate the name of Washington with the revolutionary war period and the strenuous days that followed that struggle for independence of the thirteen colonies. Washington is held as a type of manhood that every school boy should emulate and the history of his life is known to all the rising generation.

One fact which is not perhaps known of this man and his family, a fact which just at this time is most interesting, is that the flag of this great nation he fought for, which he governed as its first president, is a copy of the coat of arms of his family when they resided in England, before coming to Virginia in the early Colonial days. Reverend Dr. Solloway, vicar of Selby Abbey, makes known the fact that the coat of arms of the Washington and Standish families, George Washington's ancestors, correspond with the design of the stars and stripes.

The new shield, which Dr. Solloway found in the ancient parish church in his native town, Chorley, in Lancashire, contains in the quarter devoted to the Washington arms, distinct white stars and white stripes on a red background. The shield is that of Alexander Standish, who was born about 1570. In the lower part of the shield are the arms of his wife, Margaret Ashton, together with the Washington arms, showing that the ancestors of Miss Standish were related to the Washington family.

The Washington arms found in Chorley differ from those discovered by Dr. Solloway in Selby Abbey last year, in the fact that the stars as well as the stripes are distinctly shown and that the bars are white on a red background, which is the reverse of those usually represented on the Washington coat of arms. This difference, however, is well known to heraldic students.

The new Standish-Washington shield was first found by Dr. Solloway in a stained glass window of the church. Subsequently he found its duplicate on the Standish pew, a beautiful one of Jacobean design, which still remains in the ancient edifice.

On Sunday night last, T. D. Woolsey of Beloit delivered a stirring address on Washington at the Second Congregational church, Beloit. It is unfortunate that its length is such that it will not permit reprinting for the thought expressed throws a new light on the character and man whose birthday we celebrate today. Mr. Woolsey has made a careful study of Washington and his comparison of his character as a man, a soldier, a statesman, to the present day politician, is most striking. It was a strong address and brings to light new thoughts of the great American hero.

George Washington left his imprint upon the history of this nation and it is meet and right that we should honor his memory by setting aside one day each year to be devoted to his remembrance. His life's history is taught in the public schools and thus are flying to bring it to the minds of the busy men and women. While the United States is yet young as a nation as compared with the older European countries it honors its great men in a fitting manner and teaches the growing generation to honor and respect the flag and what it typifies.

TARIFF A LOCAL ISSUE.

Down in Washington they are preparing to tinker with the tariff and to readjust some of the schedules to suit the ideas of the democratic leaders. Years ago General Winfield Scott Hancock declared that tariff was a local issue and was scoffed at. Today his statement comes home to Rock county farmers directly. The beet sugar industry is in danger of serious restrictions if the proposed free sugar measure passed yet in the rest of the country, where sugarbeets are not grown. This is not half as important as the steel reduction bill which would affect the big mills of the east and their thousands of workers. Free wool means trouble in the western country where the herds of sheep are found, and so it goes through all the list. Hancock's statement is verified and it would be well for the democratic measures to be carefully investigated before passed.

TAFT GAINING.

This morning's dispatches leave no loop-holes for a doubt that Colonel Roosevelt means to announce himself as a candidate for the presidential nomination within a short time. This means that he has directly repudiated La Follette—has broken, what the La Follette men claim was a pledge to their leader to remain out of the race and will profit by the labors of the senior Wisconsin senator in organizing the progressive republicans of the country to oppose Taft. Meanwhile the friends of the President have rallied to his support and despite the desertions of many of the old-time leaders, are gaining strength each day in all parts of the country. The south is almost certain to send a solid Taft delegation to the Chicago convention and it would not be surprising if Wisconsin added a few delegates to the list when the fact becomes known that Roosevelt has double-crossed the Wisconsin candidate for his own personal gain.

That is a good idea, the suggestion of the Recorder that Chief Klein should be given an opportunity to explain his reasons for handling the Bassett and Echlin fire as he did. It would settle all this street discussion of the apparent inefficiency of the fire department, either one way or the other.

In Minneapolis there lives a man who compels the young women working for him to wear low-heeled shoes and no comfortable. The man, however, old time.

Still the candidates pop up for mayorship or commissioner jobs under the new commission law. The more the merrier and the bigger the field to pick from.

Just think of it. Fifty-one per cent of the coeds at the state university are knock-kneed. Awful to contemplate, and the expensive faculty can do nothing to add them either.

President Taft's idea about getting down to work early did not make any decided favorable impression on the White House employees.

Columbia does not appear to think that Columbia is the gem of the ocean or any other kind of a precious stone just at present.

Salt Lake City is prohibiting pool rooms and gambling of all kinds, but admits that marriages will continue as usual.

No one need die of sunul these days if the railway wrecks continue to be as frequent as in the past few weeks.

THE OLD RAIL FENCE.

Don't you remember, My Hortense, When we sat on your dad's rail fence and made our vows that night so fair and built our castles in the air? I quite distinctly call to mind just how your dad came up behind and jabbed me with the pitchfork he could always wield in his best glee. That night I never will forget, for I have got those three scars yet. I bent it home, if you recall. That's where our castles took a fall. The thing that saved my life that time was that your father couldn't climb that crooked fence and give pursuit, and land on me with his old boot. Our romance fizzled out, Hortense, when we sat on your dad's rail fence.

According to Uncle Abner, There may be awkward things in this world than a woman on a step ladder, but if there is I ain't never seen 'em. No matter how much a fellow likes flowers he generally has to die to get 'em. The only time I know of when it pays to be bald-headed is when a fellow gets caught in an Indian massacre. There are some fellows who are going to have a dull time in heaven with no gas companies and no street railways to kick about. A happy married life is when a fellow and his wife can get along with one easy chair on the porch. P. S.—There ain't none such. Mr. and Mrs. Asa Perkins are getting right into high society. They have had a bathtub put in their house. It beats all why people will insist upon going to musical recitals to be miserable when they can be miserable at home without half as much worry or expense. Some men are born foolish and others raise pompadours. Those may be some difference between exercise and hard work, but it never has been discovered. It is more blessed to give than to receive, especially if it is a sour tip on a horse race. One of the mysteries of this world is why a statesman always has to scowl when he has his photograph taken.

ADVICE TO WIVES. If he persists in eating dinner in his shirt sleeves, one way to cure him is to go in the table with your hair down. This has been tried and has never failed. If he positively will not get up first in the morning to light the kitchen fire, let him buy his breakfast down town. This is a sure cure. If he will stay out until after midnight, follow his example and forget to say where you have been. Others who have tried this remedy recommend it very highly. If you want a $50 suit, pick out a $100 one and have it sent up to the house on approval. He will come across with the fifty if you will promise to send the other back.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE

A MODERN LOVE STORY.

Would you like a "rent, for sure" love story today?

The prettiest one I know is that of Arthur Fortescue, nephew of the Duke of Portland, and Olga Voriluhoff, a Dukhobor maid of Canada. A few years ago Fortescue, a dashing, handsome graduate of Oxford, with the wanderlust in his veins, went away to Canada to seek adventures. In Quebec he heard many tales of those strange people, the Dukhobors—their queer religious beliefs, their persecution in Russia and their coming to Canada.

Which appealed to Fortescue. He determined to go on a visit to the community, study the people at first hand and write a book about them. The book was never written. One day in his travels through the colony the young man met a maid of women dressed in strange attire, drawing a plow and chanting a minor keyed song as they toiled at the ropes. As they passed his eyes rested for a moment on the sweet face of a girl in her teens. She looked at him shyly, and he thought her face the most winsome he had ever seen.

The incident was forgotten. But one day in a little cabin the vision of the girl's face flashed upon his memory. He could not forget it. Impulsively he started to find her and after a long journey succeeded. He found the girl unaffected, but surprisingly sweet and womanly.

After weeks of hesitancy he took the little maid to his heart and kissed her. Friends, hearing he was to marry the maid, tried to dissuade him. They said his fancy for the girl would fade. Nevertheless the nobleman and the Dukhobor lass were wedded. The news went back to England, and Fortescue was disinherited. But long before he heard about his disinheritance—little recked he of the ways of aristocracy—he had adopted the simple creed of the Dukhobors and entered the communal life.

That was eight years ago. Fortescue by reason of his education has become a leader among the plow folk and is still very much in love with his pretty, gentle hearted wife.

And thus endeth the true tale of Robert Fortescue, nobleman, and Olga Voriluhoff, Dukhobor maid.

Between Friends.

He—I suppose Lind's hair is what she call Titian, isn't it?

She—It's more like Tim-Titian.—Urk.

First La Grippe, Then Bronchitis. Such was the case with Mrs. W. S. Bailey, McCreary, Ky. "My wife was taken down with a severe attack of la grippe, which ran into bronchitis. She coughed as tho' she had consumption and could not sleep at night. The Doctor's medicine gave her no relief and I was advised to try Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. The first bottle gave her so much relief that she continued using it and three bottles effected a permanent cure." Mr. W. S. Bailey says he is prepared to answer all inquiries promptly. BEEKEEPING COURSE IS ASKED OF UNIVERSITY

Wisconsin Society in Meeting at Madison Yesterday Elected Monroe Man President.

[Special to the Gazette.] Madison, Wis., Feb. 22.—The Wisconsin Beekeepers' Association in annual meeting here yesterday afternoon, adopted a resolution asking the University of Wisconsin to establish a beekeeping course. These officers were elected: president, Jacob Huffman, Monroe; vice-president, F. Wilcox, Madison; secretary, Gustave Wilcox, Madison; treasurer, A. C. Allen, Portage. The latter was elected delegate to the convention of the National Beekeepers' Association at Washington next February.

Reported That Forces Allied With Harmon Bureau are Behind Movement for Newspaper.

[Special to the Gazette.] Madison, Wis., Feb. 22.—The establishment of a new afternoon newspaper in Madison is reported to be under consideration. Authentic information regarding the plans is lacking, but it is said that forces allied with the Harmon presidential bureau are behind the movement. It is said the plan is to secure the Associated Press afternoon franchise.

Burglars' League.

Rules of a "Burglars' League," of which he was president, were found on Jean Renaud, who was arrested recently at Lyons. One provided for the exclusion of "any member who shows incapacity for the profession, and is arrested three in succession;" another provided for an admission test; and a third insisted on the equal division of the spoils.

Doe's Eye for Landmark.

There can be little doubt that so intelligent an insect as a bee has a long memory and a keen eye for landmarks. This is testified by the fact that almost all bees fly by day, whereas such creatures as moths—of no fixed home or occupation—fly in the darkness. A bee would be lost at midnight because it could not recognize its surroundings.

Wonderful "Snow Flower."

The "snow flower," so named because it blooms only in the depth of icy winters, is to be found growing on Siberian soil. When it opens, it is star-shaped, its petals of the same length as the leaves, and half an inch in width. A Russian nobleman took a number of the seeds to St. Petersburg. They were placed in a pot of snow and frozen earth. On the coldest day of the following January the miraculous flower burst through its icy covering, and displayed its beauties to the wondering spectators.

RIVAL AT SING SING. New York City.—The chauffeur of Roubie E. Brandt, former Schiff servant, who is serving a thirty-year sentence for burglary, is attracting more attention than any other case of his kind in criminal records. New York papers are devoting three or four full pages to the case, and sympathy for the prisoner has been excited, and it is now thought that he will in not probably receive his freedom within a short time. He is now in Sing Sing, having been transferred there, where he awaits a new trial. In the new trial it is contended that evidence will be produced upon perjured testimony in order to get him out of the city.

Stencil Letters Used by Ancients.

Movable characters were known to the ancients; they were used in teaching children to read. The ancients had also stencil letters, which they used to secure a regular style of penmanship. They even made use of plates, thus opened, containing an entire page; it was placed on the papyrus to guide the pens of children; "an excellent means," said Quintilian, "to learn them not to exceed the desired proportions." The Emperor Justinian (A. D. 528) could neither read nor write, an unexampled thing in one of such high rank. When it was necessary for him to sign his name, he had a sheet of gold, through which were cut the letters of his name. "Then," said Procopius, "placing this tablet on the paper, one conducted the hand of the prince, holding the stylus dipped in purple on the type of the different letters, and took away in writing furnished with his signature." The same thing is reported of King Theodoric and of Charlemagne.—Charles Whistler Hall in National Magazine.

INTEREST IS SHOWN IN THE COMING FAIR

Mid-Winter Fair Exhibit of Farmers' Products Promises to Be Most Complete.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week, the revival of the old-time mid-winter fair will be held at the West Side Hall under the auspices of the Commercial club. Secretary Lane is issuing a neat booklet with the list of prizes and classes of exhibits and will mail them to all the farmers in the county who will be liable to have exhibits.

The exhibits will be placed along the sides of the big building and in the center of the hall and it is expected that space for exhibiting purposes will be at a premium. The exhibits will be divided into departments—grains, dairy, vegetable and domestic and culinary. Corn, rye, barley, wheat, and buckwheat will be found here as well as the best specimens of winter vegetables and fruits. Perhaps the most interesting exhibit will be that of the dairy department which will include samples of cheese and butter and the illustration of the best methods of handling dairy products. As the entries in all the classes will be limited to active agriculturists and their families it should prove instructive as well as interesting.

Secretary Lane has secured one hundred and fifty prizes to be given in the different classes to be divided into three prizes for each special award. Full information and the premium lists can be secured from Secretary Lane of the Commercial club at his office, 411 Jackson building.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Paid advertisement; amount paid, $1.00 each insertion.
I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Mayor of the City of Janesville, at the coming primary to be held on the 19th day of March, 1912.

To the Citizens of Janesville: Realizing the responsibility of the office I am about to seek and fully conscious of the duties of said office, and with a full belief that I could bring to said office a knowledge gained by long experience in the municipal affairs of our city, which would be of material benefit to the taxpayers and citizens in general, and particularly, now that we are about to enter upon a new form of government.

Therefore I seek the nomination and election to the office of Mayor. Should I be entrusted with the Honorable and important duties of said office, I can only promise to the best of my ability an honest, economical, industrious and faithful administration of its duties in a plain, business-like manner. Soliciting the support of my fellow citizens and submitting my past public record to stand in judgment of my future actions, I am,

Yours truly,

JAS. A. FATHERS.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Paid Advertisement; amount paid for each insertion, $1.25.
At the request of many friends I have decided to announce myself as a candidate for the office of Mayor at the primary election to be held March 19, 1912.

It is due the voters and tax payers to know what I stand for, and what I will attempt to do in accomplishing if elected.

First, I believe in a conservative, economical business administration where every dollar expended represents a dollar in value.

Second, I believe in the impartial enforcement of law without fear or favor and that no line of business should be exempt.

Third, I believe that the number of saloons in Janesville makes it necessary for the man engaged in the business to resort to all sorts of devices to make a living. The number should be reduced and the men that are licensed should understand that offenses will not be tolerated. Obey the law or forfeit the license.

Fourth, the city is polluted with dives and gambling houses, with slot machines and other devices which ruin our boys and young men. Those conditions should not exist and they need not.

I believe that my experiences for the past 35 years with men and affairs, qualifies me to render the city, which has long been my home, efficient service. I ask your support at the polls.

FIGHT SMOULDERING FIRE IN ASH HEAP

Department Called and Plays Water on it for Four Hours—Extinguished Blaze in Drying Wood

Fire which for two weeks has been smoldering in the large ash heap of the Creek Brewery on the river bank yesterday threatened the buildings in the vicinity and a silent alarm called the fire department from the west side station there at about 5:30 o'clock in the evening. A line of hose was laid from the nearest hydrant and a stream of water played on the heap until 8:30 o'clock. The water as it struck the hot embers caused a series of explosions which sent ashes spouting high in the air, making a very spectacular display. The fire is not yet entirely extinguished and it is possible that the fire department may have to be called out again. The ash pile is of such size that the flames have penetrated so deep that it is almost impossible to get at them.

Before the department had finished its work at the ash pile, another call was received to a house at the corner of North Main Street and Fourth Avenue, where wood being dried in an oven had been kindled by the heat. This was removed and the fire quickly extinguished by the use of chemicals.

CITY STANDS IN NEED OF MORE SNOW PLOWS.

Street Commissioner Declares That at Least Two More Are Needed to Clean Walks Promptly.

That Janesville needs at least two more snow plows of the type recently purchased to clean sidewalks promptly after snowstorms is the opinion of Street Commissioner Dan Wilkins. The one city plow has done very satisfactory work but it is impossible to do all the sidewalk and gutter cleaning in the city with it. As a result citizens who can not secure his services feel that they are slighted, and accuse the street commissioner of favoritism.

The most practicable plan according to the commissioner would be to have a plow for each ward, or if not so many to have the city divided into districts, and allot a plow to each. As these can be used to advantage for light grading as well as cleaning snow from walks and gutters they are a profitable municipal investment.

FORMER RESIDENT OF MILTON PASSED AWAY

H. H. Rlesdon, Former Operator on St. Paul Road at Milton, Died in Beloit Yesterday.

Milton, Feb. 22.—H. H. Rlesdon, who has been ill at his home in Beloit, for ten days past, died yesterday. He leaves a wife, two sons, Herbert C. and Frank C., all of whom reside here, and three daughters: Mrs. E. I. Burdick of Waukegan, Mrs. Charles Cannell and Mrs. W. H. Crandall of Beloit. The remains will be brought here for interment, Saturday. The deceased was an expert telegraph operator in his younger days and for many years was in the employ of the Milwaukee road at this station. For some time prior to his death he was a non-employee of the Fairbanks-Morse company at Beloit.

THE THEATERS

"EXCUSE ME"
Having proved itself the laughing hit of the season in New York City, "Excuse Me," Rupert Hughes' episodic farce will now add to the list of theatrical successes which will appear here on Friday, Feb. 23, at the Myers Theatre. A brilliant cast, which numbers such well known players as Robert Fisher, Forrest Orr, William V. Struna, Charles Chappell, Harry J. Lane, Galway Herbert, Helen Lottrell, Frances Williams, Riley Chamberlain, Margaret Rand, Lucille Lomax, Ethel Weir, William Wainwright, W. J. Fletcher, Frederick Howard and Leo Cooper will interpret the farce here, and in the matter of scenery and effects the production will, of course, be exactly the same as that shown at the Galaxy

SCENE FROM "EXCUSE ME," AT MYERS THEATRE FRIDAY NIGHT.

Theatre, New York, all last season. "Excuse Me" is a distinct novelty. It is a play of twenty stories and of none, which paradox is accounted for by the fact that the incidents that occur on an overland limited train during its passage from Chicago to San Francisco via Reno. Thirty persons of widely contrasting types are the passengers and it is their experiences, encounters with each other and with the train which constitutes the motif.

Anyone who has made an extended journey in a Pullman train can hardly have failed to note the humorous possibilities of such a trip. And Mr. Hughes having noted them, undertakes to put them into the form of a farce. This happens while screamingly funny, as it would be remarkable rather than otherwise had "Excuse Me" failed to prove a success of sensational dimensions. The box office opened Wednesday, Feb. 21st at nine o'clock.

"THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER"
"The Chocolate Soldier," which the Whitney Opera Company will present at the Myers Theatre, Tuesday evening, March 5th, has been the chief instrument in reestablishing the dying interest of theatregoers in the type of light opera made famous by Gilbert and Sullivan. Its success is all the more remarkable because it was first produced at a time when audiences and critics alike had become embittered by a tedious succession of cheap and worthless melodramas, until it seemed that they were ready to boycott light opera forever. The appearance of "The Chocolate Soldier" in New York three seasons ago under the direction of Mr. Whitney, was equal to a revolution. DEMOCRATS SELECT WILSON DELEGATES

Wilson Supporters Name Delegates-at-Large at Madison Yesterday—Cunningham An Alternate.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Feb. 22.—William P. Wolfe, La Crosse; P. H. Martin, Green Bay; Robert H. Kirkland, Jefferson; and A. J. Schmitz, Milwaukee, were selected as delegates-at-large for Wisconsin yesterday afternoon by the representatives of the Wilson supporters from all congressional districts in the state. As alternates the following were chosen: Bert Williams, Ashland; M. S. Bright, Superior; T. L. Cleary, Platteville; and J. J. Cunningham, Janesville. The report of the nominating committee was unanimous, but in the conference session which preceded the business session there was considerable debate over the rival claims of A. J. Schmitz of Milwaukee, and Judge Hugh W. Sawyer, Hartford, for delegate. In the end it was decided that Milwaukee, with a large Wilson following and recognized as a strong political center, was entitled to a delegate. Arthur Sawyer, son of Judge Sawyer, attended the conference.

Senator Paul O. Hastings, Mayville, was elected chairman of the meeting, and Assemblyman H. V. Schwabach, South Germantown, secretary. The nominating committee, consisting of one from each district, was as follows: First, J. J. Cunningham, Janesville; Second, J. F. Schneider, Jefferson; Third, John Moran, Madison; Fourth, John H. Kane, Milwaukee; Fifth, Gustave A. Dick, Milwaukee; Sixth, Timothy Brennan, Manitowish; Seventh, E. J. Kneass, Bangor; Eighth, not represented; Ninth, John A. Ayward, Madison, appointed at the suggestion of P. H. Martin of Green Bay, who was a candidate for delegate; Tenth, A. P. Kealy, Hudson; Eleventh, W. H. Tripp, Iron River.

The committee went into executive session and several enthusiastic speeches were made. Division in Oklahoma. PRESIDENT AGAINST ADDING TELEGRAPH TO POSTAL SERVICE

Taft Disapproves of Government Ownership of Telegraph Lines Because of Small Benefit to Public.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—President Taft today informed Congress that he did not approve of Postmaster General Hitchcock's suggestion that the government buy and operate all telegraph lines as an adjunct of the postal system. Mr. Taft said that if it could be shown that the public would benefit by receiving service at a less price than is now paid he might think differently of the plan, but that he was not convinced such would be the effect.

After referring to the practical wiping out of the postal deficit and other features of Mr. Hitchcock's administration of affairs, Mr. Taft in transmitting the Post Office Department's report to Congress today said:

Against Public Ownership
"There is only one recommendation in which I cannot agree—that is one which recommends that the telegraph lines in the United States should be made part of the postal system and operated in conjunction with the mail system. This presents a question of Government ownership of public utilities which are now being conducted by private enterprise under franchise from the Government. I believe that the true principle is that private enterprise should be permitted to carry on such public utilities under due regulation as to rates by proper authority, rather than that the Government should itself conduct them. This principle I favor because I do not think it in accordance with the best public policy thus greatly to increase the body of public servants."

No Better Management.
"Of course, if it could be shown that telegraph service could be furnished to the public at a less price than it is now furnished to the public by telegraph companies, and with equal efficiency, the argument might be a strong one in favor of the adoption of the proposition. But I am not satisfied from any evidence that if these properties were taken over by the Government they could be managed any more economically or any more efficiently or that this would enable the Government to furnish service at any smaller rate than the public are now required to pay by private companies."

The President found much, he said, to commend in Mr. Hitchcock's department. "I cannot speak with too great emphasis," he said, "of the improvement in the Post Office Department under the present management." He showed that at the end of the last fiscal year compared with a deficit of $17,479,770.47 two years before. This was not to be accounted for, the President pointed out, by reduction of force or number of postoffices or salaries but by scientific economy.

For Parcel Post
Mr. Taft approved the adoption of a parcel post, recommended by Mr. Hitchcock, said that the placing of assistant postmasters in the civil service should be followed by placing under the classified service of postmaster and commensured the postal savings system. Preparations are being made, he said, to establish this system at about 40,000 fourth class offices.

FARMERS' MEETINGS HELD AT EDGERTON

Two Days' Session Held at Royal Hall Were Well Attended—Other Edgerton News.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Edgerton, Feb. 22.—Yesterday afternoon witnessed the close of the two days' session of the Farmers' Institute held in Royal Hall. The meetings throughout were intensely interesting and undoubtedly will result in a great amount of good, but the attendance was not up to expectation.

The topics were handled by men of experience in their lines of agriculture and some valuable information brought out that farmers generally in this community ought not to have missed. The hall was well filled at the Tuesday evening session, however, when a more varied musical and literary program was given. Prof. F. O. Holt discussed agriculture in the public schools, and Mr. Stiles spoke on "Farmers and Education." Musical selections were furnished by the high school orchestra, girls' glee club and Kathleen Cullen.

The cooking school held in connection with the institute, however, was well attended and the sessions were crowded with ladies of Edgerton and the surrounding country and a much larger hall could have been used.

Carried Out Program.
Last night after the regular meeting of the W. R. C. held in the F. A. and B. hall, comrades of the G. A. R. and invited friends gathered to celebrate the birthday of Washington and also that of Lincoln. A program was rendered as follows: Song—"America." Reading—Mrs. G. McCarthy. Paper on Washington and Lincoln—Alex. Campbell. Reading—Mrs. Lizzie Williams. After the program announcements appropriate to the occasion were enjoyed and prizes were given. Light refreshments were served and a pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. Relatives, neighbors and friends to the number of fifty gathered and took the couple by surprise. The evening was spent in various games and amusements. Refreshments were served and the host and hostess were the recipients of many valuable gifts of all varieties.

JANESVILLE MAN THE HEAD OF THE SYSTEM

W. F. Hayes and His Watch Inspection of Railroads Subject of An Interesting Article.

In the February number of the Illinois Central Employees' magazine the following article relative to watch inspection on the railroads will be of interest to Janesville readers, owing to the fact that W. F. Hayes of this city is at the head of the vast system that handles this important matter for several railroads. The following is the article:

The publicity given to the railroads during the past few years has resulted in a beneficial manner to the carriers in several instances. For one thing in particular it has taught a great many people that railroad officials have something more important to do than the issuing of free passes and paying claims.

The people are beginning to realize that a railroad manager has a multitude of duties to take care of that require his constant attention and that his trips over his line in his private car are not made for pleasure.

The restrictions placed on the railroads by the government in the matter of giving free transportation to servants rendered (sometimes) has had a signal effect and since the carriers are compelled to pay good money for what they get, they in turn demand the best that is to be had for the price.

This is particularly true of the advertising department. Formerly the railway accepted anything that looked like an advertisement and they paid for it in mileage they figured that it cost them very little. But since they have to pay for it in dollars and cents they are getting out attractive announcements that will command the attention of the people.

The advertisement of one of the large railways which appeared in a recent issue of one of the Chicago daily papers was headed by a picture which to the keen observer was a striking illustration of the present efficiency of train operation. The picture referred to was a group of figures representing the employees engaged in the operating department, namely the conductor, engineer, fireman, brakeman, train dispatcher, track walker, porter and the usher, who will carry your baggage and see that you board the proper train.

In the center of this group the conductor and engineer were seen comparing watches and was a silent tribute to the time service and watch inspection department, which now obtains on all first class railways.

Time being the principal factor of railroading (for without correct time it would be impossible to operate) this picture showing the two most important employees on a railroad train, brought to my mind the question: "How many people who daily trust their lives and property to the care of the railroad company and their employees know how the correct time?"

If you will observe the passengers on any railroad train, you will invariably notice one or more of them ask the conductor for the time and set their watches accordingly. They accept his word without question, knowing that he is correct; yet few of themselves interest themselves enough to inquire why this is so. I have seen many business and professional men who have occasion to use suburban trains, leaving Chicago on one of the principal railroads, set their watches when the train leaves the depot, as this railroad always moves its suburban trains on the second. No doubt, many of these watches are expensive and should run accurately, but the ordinary business or professional man is satisfied if his watch will run within one or two minutes a day. This is not true with the railroad man; his watch must run within a variation of thirty seconds a week, and few railroad employees are satisfied with such a performance.

A large percentage of the watches built for railroad service will show a very close rating and many of them will run sixty and ninety days without varying over twenty or twenty-five seconds.

Such perfection has only been obtained by careful finishing and adjusting by the watch manufacturer, the strict rules of the railroad companies having made this necessary. Competition between the watch companies for the railroad men's trade is very keen, and no amount of advertising will give such results as a few phenomenal time pieces of one manufacturer on a division. The word is passed along the line that a certain grade of watch built by one of the manufacturers is a fine timekeeper and prospective purchasers are advised by their fellow employees to buy that particular grade.

This is well known to the manufacturer and the result is that the American watch companies are now building the perfect timekeepers that are on the market today.

Every railroad employee who is required to use a time card in discharging his duties is compelled to carry a standard railroad watch. The company arranges with reliable watchmakers located at convenient points along the line of railway to inspect and adjust the employees' watches.

The employees are required to present their watches to one of the inspectors every ninety days for a thorough examination. If the watch is up to the required grade and is in good running condition the employee receives a card certificate which he must have in his possession at all times; each week he must call at the inspector's store and compare his watch with standard United States conservatory time. If the watch has varied thirty seconds or more, either slow or fast, it is not underegulated carefully.

Failure to comply with these rules subject the men to discipline and repeated violations are often followed by dismissal.

A great deal of the credit for the perfect organization of the time service department is due to W. F. Hayes, who is in charge of the service on several large Western lines for one of the most prominent general time inspectors. Mr. Hayes' headquarters are in Chicago, but his many duties keep him traveling constantly to the extreme Northwest, West and Southwest. Three or four times per year it is necessary for Mr. Hayes to journey across the continent to Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, the West Coast of Mexico and Texas. Several hundred watch inspectors located in thirty states are under his direct supervision and he has several assistants who are always busy looking after the details.

The rights of the men are closely guarded and any attempt at sharp practice by the inspectors or by the employees is immediately investigated, and the guilty party punished by either reprimand or dismissal.

An accident due to imperfect time is a very rare occurrence and demonstrates the perfect manner in which the time service under the careful management of Mr. Hayes is organized.

JUDA

Juda, Feb. 22.—Several of Mrs. A. A. Davis' relatives gave her a surprise Sunday, Feb. 18. It was her fifty-sixth birthday. Everybody had a fine time and a grand dinner was served.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Roderick went to Holleville, Friday, to visit relatives. They returned home on Tuesday.

George Asmus and Jess Gronow spent Monday and Tuesday in Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Stewart of Broadhead were at the surprise party held for Mrs. A. A. Davis, Sunday.

C. H. Hull and J. F. Miller had business in Lank, Ill., last week. Mr. Miller returned home Friday.

J. P. Kildow went to Broadhead, Saturday, to sell his horses. He received $240 for the two.

An extra number of the lecture course was held at the L. O. O. F. hall Tuesday evening, Feb. 20. Everyone enjoyed the entertainment.

Matthew West expects to move to Broadhead the first of March. Floyd Vanderbolt expects to move onto the farm vacated by Mr. West.

The fifth number of the lecture course will be given at the hall next Saturday, March 2.

A. A. Gillette and J. Z. Davis had business in Broadhead, Friday.

We have received word from Oak-kosh that Rev. J. Johnson, who has been pastor of the Juda Baptist church, is dead. We are very sorry to hear this for he was liked by everyone.

HANOVER

Hanover, Feb. 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butler and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Butler and family are enjoying a visit from their cousin, Mrs. Louisa M. Youtz of Panama, Iowa. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butler entertained Chas. Butler and family last Sunday in honor of Mrs. Youtz.

REQUIRES CHANGE AND REST

Average Woman Unable to Be Happy Among Surroundings That Have Become Monotonous.

A certain woman was restless. She was worn out, but it was not with physical work. Her husband was wise, perhaps, than most husbands. He did not send her to the top of a mountain where she was the only inhabitant. He sent her to rest where there were many new people, with new personalities and new topics of interest. She needed contact with the world more than she needed a cool climate. Frequently men who brush elbows with a dozen persons each day do not appreciate the solitude of their wives. Sometimes when a man needs as a rest to get away from miscellaneous humanity, contact is just what is needed by his wife. Frequently even if she has enough feminine society she lacks the society of men. Perhaps her husband never really converses, or is able to converse, with her. A man hidden behind his newspaper at the breakfast table is not a creation of the comic paper; he is a too frequent fact. Too often his wife does not interest him because the sphere which is imposed upon her is too limited. Yet she may have been so confined to her own thoughts all day that she feels she will go crazy if she does not have some one to talk sincerely with, or some other human excitement. Birds often divide the care of the young, and when the female leaves the nest it is sometimes merely for change and rest. There are some who believe the French woman is more content than the average woman in other countries, because she has a share in the family business. She is a partner, instead of a sort of upper servant.—Editorial in Collier's.

WHY A MAN LIKES A DOG

Of Course There Are Other Reasons, but These Are the Ideas of the Suffragette Lady.

"Why does a man like a dog?" responded the suffragette lady, fiercely, and repeated. "Why does a man like a dog? Well, there are numerous reasons, though a dog is not a reasoning being. A dog will lick the hand that beats it; a dog will eat a crust and a bone and bless the giver; a dog thinks whatever a man does is right and proper; a dog has no rights that a man is bound to respect; a dog asks no embarrassing questions; a dog is always grateful, no matter for what; a dog does not ask the man to stay at home nights; a dog is satisfied to love the man whether the man loves the dog or not; a dog submits to any and all impositions without protest; a dog does not consider itself a man's equal; a dog lets a man have his own way; a dog doesn't want to vote; a dog is just as glad to see a man when he gets in at three o'clock in the morning, almost hopeless, as if he hadn't come out at all; a dog has no mother in sight, and a dog can't talk back; can't talk back, mind you, nor won't talk back. That is why a man likes a dog."

CHARACTER STUDY IN CLAY OF J.P. MORGAN.

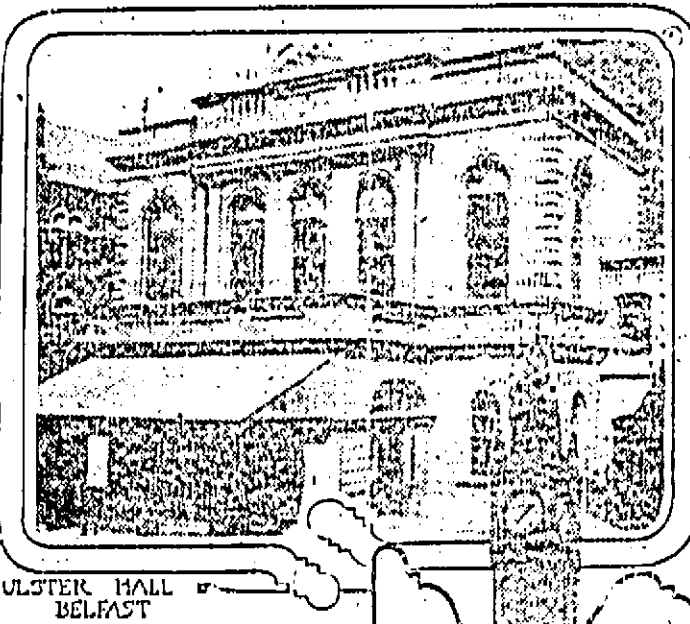

CHARACTER STUDY IN CLAY

Paris.—With J. Pierpont Morgan in conference with two other famous American financiers here the world is watching with breathless interest to see what may develop. Thus, in fact, every move of Morgan's is watched whether he be in New York in his Wall street office, in Paris, or in Morocco. He is the genius of the world's finances and is respected in Paris fully as much or more than in America.

Mr. Morgan was born to wealth and this in many cases would have been a handicap rather than an impetus to greater endeavor. In his case, however, he used his inherited wealth and is now reaping the reward of his years of hard labor in the finance world.

That it is hard labor and not play is depicted by the character study in clay of C. A. Beatz. His face is lined with the strain and worry of gigantic undertakings where his judgment was supreme and in which a slight mis-step might have meant not only his own financial ruin but that of his intimate friends.

ULSTER HALL BELFAST

ENGLAND AWAITS GREAT RIOT.

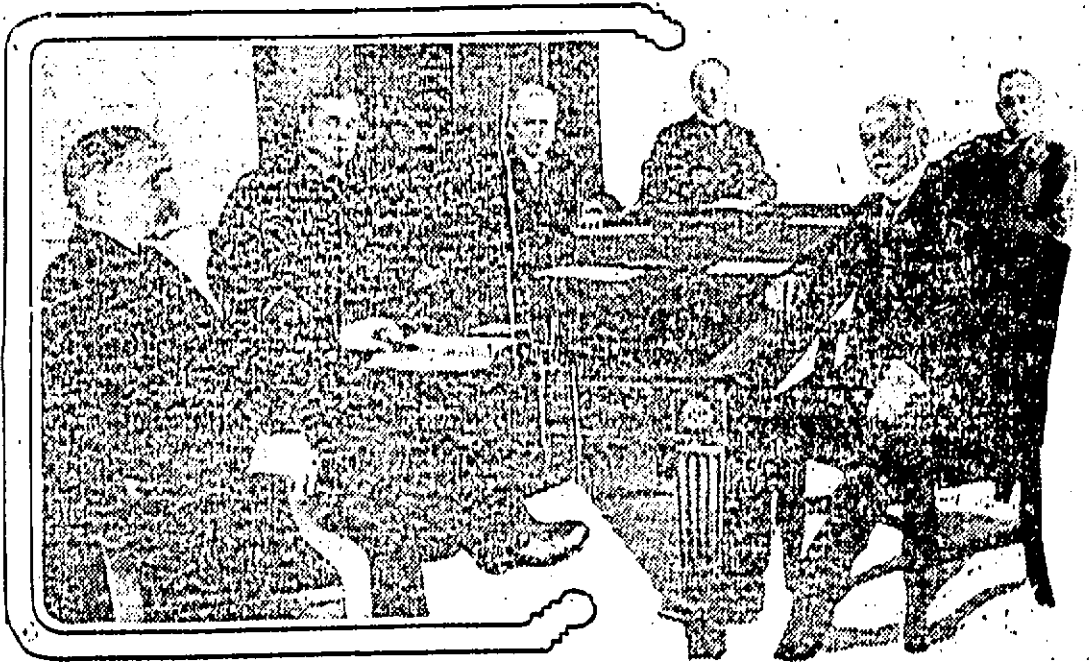

London, England, Attention throughout England centers in Belfast, where on February 8th the greatest demonstration in the history of home rule will take place. It is expected that rioting will occur and there may be considerable bloodshed. Winston Churchill, John Redmond and other prominent leaders, on that date will conduct a meeting at Ulster Hall. Ulster men are drilling for the purpose of resisting home rule by force of arms. Thirty thousand Orangemen will pour into Belfast on special trains to squelch this meeting.

ALBERT REMON SQUARE

JIU-JITSU "DEATH BLOW" SLOWLY KILLING MILLIONAIRE STOKES

New York City.—The charge by millionaire William B. D. Stokes, who was shot at and wounded by Lillian Graham and Ethel Contant on June 7th, that in the struggle which ensued in the corridor a Japanese Jiu-Jitsu expert delivered a "death blow" over the left kidney from which Stokes is slowly dying, has excited much interest. Jiu-Jitsu experts claim that in all probability his statement is correct for it is a well known fact that the "death blow" is possible and in such cases death ensues very slowly.

OPPOSED TO RAISE IN WOODMEN RATES

"Insurgent" Members of Order From States in West Held Opposition Meeting at Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 22.—"Insurgent" members of the Modern Woodmen of America, from a number of states of the Middle West, are in session here today for the purpose of formulating plans for the purpose of opposing the rate increase of the organization taken at the state meeting of the organization in Chicago some time ago in increasing the insurance rate. That there will be a hard fight on the convention floor is admitted by leaders of both factions. John Sullivan of Kansas City, chairman of the laws committee of the modern Woodmen of America and a "regular" arrived in the city last night, announcing his intention of attempting at least to attend the convention. "I have eradicated from my camp and I am going to attend the convention if possible."

The insurgent faction claims that the rates adopted at the Chicago convention are excessive. Mr. Sullivan declared that, in general, there is little dissatisfaction and that the legislative action in the various states.

FRENCH AMBASSADOR SPEAKS AT CHICAGO

M. Jusserand Pays Tribute to George Washington in Address at Auditorium Theater.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—The most notable of the meetings in celebration of Washington's birthday here was a series planned by the Union League Club today and staged in the Auditorium theater at which the character and virtues of the first president of the republic were extolled. The morning meeting was addressed by Jean Adrien Antoine, French ambassador to the United States, who took for his subject, "What France Was for Washington; What Washington Is for France."

The second meeting was a celebration by Americans of all nationalities and the speaker Jacob A. Kiss, talked of "Citizenship and What It Means."

The speakers of the day were scheduled to respond to topics at an evening banquet at the Union League Club. Many other organizations and societies also held meetings in commemoration of the birth of Washington.

CO-ED HAS TRESSES SHORN DURING SLEEP

Inhabitant of Chadbourne Hall Finds Hair Closely Cropped Upon Arising Yesterday.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 22.—Co-eds at Chadbourne hall, women's dormitory at the University of Wisconsin are agog over the scandalous actions of one of their number, identity kept dark, who woke up yesterday morning to find her beautiful tresses shorn completely. Upon making a hasty search of her room the young woman found her hair in a tangle on an upper shelf in the wardrobe, together with the shears which she had used with such effective dexterity while asleep. Hall gossip has it that the girl had advised her often to adopt a more stylish mode of hair-dressing than had been her custom and that some of their young men friends assisted in their efforts by writing her a note containing similar advice. It is assumed that their persistent goading produced a state of mind conducive to somnambulism, with the result as noted. An uptown hairdresser is now converting her locks into a becoming switch.

PRESIDENT WILL ADDRESS NATIONAL NAVY LEAGUE

Delegates Make Pilgrimage To Tomb Of George Washington—Many Notable Guests At Banquet.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—The seventh annual convention of the Navy League of the United States began today with a pilgrimage of the delegates to the tomb of Washington at Mount Vernon. Later in the day the delegates returned to the city for the annual dinner, which had Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Joseph D. East, as guest of honor. The dinner was held at the Mayflower hotel and was one of the most notable affairs of the season. The speaker of the occasion was President Taft, who accepted an invitation to address the convention at a public meeting tomorrow in Memorial Continental Hall.

PERSONAL CHECKS NOT ACCEPTED BY TREASURER.

Exchange Charges on Checks for Amount of State Taxes From Counties Is Too Large.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 22.—Personal checks in payment of state taxes are not welcomed at the state treasury, and Assistant State Treasurer Henry Johnson yesterday returned two such remittances with the advice that a draft would be more acceptable. Personal checks are subject to exchange for which payment the state has no provision. A check for $18,571.31 from Douglas county, which was returned, would have netted the bank a fee of $18.57 if cashed.

WHICH KIND?

of an incubator to get is a question that must be answered within the next few weeks by many who are going into the poultry business on a larger scale.

We know that everyone wants to buy an incubator for as low a price as possible and still get good, healthy chicks and lots of them. Now, that is just the machine we want to sell, but we have got to consider RESULTS first instead of price. We expect to stay in business and to do so we have got to sell goods that not only look good on paper but are good in actual work.

We would rather sell a machine for $6.00 than we would for $10.00, and could have the agency for a dozen low priced machines if we would take them, but it is not safe for us to do it for they will not give satisfaction in ALL CASES. We sell a machine that we know will give results. One that is simple in construction and easy to operate, and one that we can send out on a guarantee and know that it will not come back or be offered at half price the next season.

The Successful Incubator

has stood the test with us for three years and is the best machine for the money—if it wasn't, we would sell the other makes. It is Hot Water, double wall, 12-oz. copper tank, safety lamp, deep nursery, California red wood inner walls, self regulating, low priced and gets results. Egg tester, thermometer, book of instructions and a complete course of 20 lessons in poultry culture with every machine. Whether you buy or not, come in and see the machines and talk it over.

Dun and Completed.

While many merchants are just placing their orders for Spring Garments and others have received only a "smattering," The Big Store is prepared to supply all of the new things, bought from leading makers in four cities, who confine their lines to us in Janesville, so if you buy a garment of us it means practically the only one of the kind that will be sold in this neighborhood. We say our Spring Showing is "Dun and Completed," but that means for all immediate demands. We are getting in shipments almost daily. Our connection with the Merchandise Reporting Co., of New York keeps us in close touch with the latest creations—just like being in New York twice a week. It's an immense advantage and this service is given to us only in this city.

We Direct Attention to a Wonderful Collection of New Spring Suits at $25.00.

In presenting this unusual and complete assortment of Suits which we have arranged to sell at $25, we are merely meeting a popular demand in a superior manner. Long in advance of the season we were planning with our makers for the production of these garments. They are suits that present all the style qualities that are found in those of higher priced lines, and the materials have been carefully and critically selected, whitepeacocks, Men's wear Serges, Scotch Mixture, fancy stripe Suitings, etc. Some of the jackets are made one sided effect and skirts to match, also a big assortment of plain tailored models. We offer you a variety unexcelled at this price. Come and get some idea of what the coming season's styles are to be. It's no trouble to show you—in fact, it's a real pleasure.

HEART AND HOME TALKS

BY BARBARA BOYD

The Wife Who Has Never Grown Up

A SHORT time ago, a big corporation celebrated an anniversary, and invited the chief employees from an office in a near-by town to the festivities. These guests did not get back to their home-town until one o'clock in the morning. Then one of the party, which included both men and women, invited the crowd to a supper, though perhaps it would be more correct to call it breakfast, at a rather exclusive little professional club to which he belonged. The members of the party were rather curious to see the clubhouse, in addition to the desire to prolong the evening's fun, so they accepted. Of course, a couple of hours more passed, and it was well on to four o'clock when the several members of the party at last reached their various homes.

This was late, of course. But there had been nothing absolutely wrong in the evening's jollification. The men had not been drinking. They simply had been quietly and respectfully enjoying themselves, chiefly at the invitation of their employers; and to have refused this invitation would not have been good policy.

But the wife of one of the men took umbrage at the lateness of his return home, and to "punish him," as she expressed it, she packed up her clothes the next morning, took the baby, and departed for her father's home, leaving him with three children to look after, one of them a cripple, in addition to his business duties which were heavy.

She stayed away two months. And all that time he struggled with the care of that family and his work. For although he had a responsible position, living is high, and the expense of keeping his family about ate up his salary. So he had to make out with as little assistance as possible.

Was the wife justified in her conduct? Or was it the petty childish act of a woman who has never really grown up?

If the husband had been really misconducting himself, or his past life had been such as to throw suspicion on this action, then perhaps she might have been justified. But neither of these charges was true. If he was in error at all, it was in not excusing himself from the party and returning home, instead of going on with the crowd to the club. But surely, almost any man would, under the circumstances, have kept with the crowd until the party finally broke up.

The man is patient and he has a high sense of his duty to wife and children. But surely a woman who looks at her responsibilities as wife and mother in such a narrow, self-centered way cannot hope to hold the affections of such a man. He may stick to his post. But if he expressed his honest opinion of her conduct, would it be flattering? And if she would take such a course in this matter, undoubtedly she would pursue the same policy in other things. And that home is not likely to be the home of peace.

Unfortunately, she has never grown up. She is in many ways still a child, lacking self-control, lacking a true perspective, wanting herself and her own pleasures always to be first. No doubt, during the halcyon days of the engagement, this childish attitude was very fascinating. But after marriage, when the serious responsibilities of life come, childish naivete loses its fascination, for it is totally unable to measure up to what is required of wifehood and motherhood.

The wife who has never grown up is not calculated to make the happiest home. If everything goes smoothly, her childishness may have a certain charm. But the matrimonial voyage is seldom all smooth sailing, and for such a trip, more than a child is needed to help run the ship.

be wider or longer than another and the beauty of the pattern lost.

Each square must be perfect in shape and the stitches counted. Any cross stitch pattern can be used for fillet crochet and some workers go back to old needle work books to find designs of dragons and old floral forms.

Towels, small and large, are frequently ornamented at one end with a band of fillet insertion and above the hemstitched hem and they rival in beauty the embroidered ones.

Table runners are ornamented in the same way but more novel is the square or oblong inset worked in a quilt basket of flowers or other old time design. The ends are always finished with a hem as sealings do not harmonize with this work.

The new cushions or pillows are oblong and a wide band across the short way of fillet is effective between two wide bands of fringe. Two bands of narrower fillet between three of fringe are also used. These pillows are ornamented on the ends only and often with fringe tied into a heading crocheted either solid, a net work or in shells.

For towels or to use with any heavy linen take number forty linen thread or crochet thread. Always select thread to match the cloth as even gray thread is made that matches the gray crash so much used for pillow and table runners. To finish the ends of table runners crochet two rows of mesh across and tie in four or five tassels made of the same thread. One row of mesh is sometimes worked along the sides.

A wide band of fillet crochet crossed by another and dividing four squares of heavy linen makes a handsome bed spread. Curtains may be trimmed in the same way but these have to be hemmed so often and are so rotted by the sun that the most devoted needleworker knows it is a waste of time to spend days in making trimmings for them.

My attention being called to a quickly made pin cushion I will give the hint about it. The cover was simply a fifteen cent embroidered handkerchief with two sides joined to a bit of insertion. It was then folded flat and a ruffle of lace sewed round the edge. The cushion was slipped in at one end and then it was basted together. If a handkerchief is too large for the cushion take a fold on the under side.

THE KEEFEN CABINET

WE ARE constantly remodeling ourselves and of waste money, but are so careful of wasted time, wasted talents and wasted opportunities?

CAREFULNESS IN LITTLE THINGS.

Most people are sufficiently watchful of the large leaks in household management, but the little leaks are those that often sink the great ship. It is necessary that a certain amount of care and thought should be directed toward even the simple processes of housekeeping, to make the machinery run smoother. If we are visitors in a home we do not care to hear the wheels go round, the most perfect running machinery, especially in the home, is the noiseless kind. The taking proper care of supplies after purchasing is hardly secondary in importance to intelligent buying.

Perishable food should never be bought in large quantities beyond the needs of the family.

Food left in paper bags that come from the markets are more apt to be flavored by the chemicals present in the paper. This is especially true of foods containing moisture.

Cereals of all kinds should be kept in glass jars, tightly covered, in a cool place.

Flour is highly absorbent and should be kept in a dry cool place.

Butter and milk should never stand uncovered.

Coffee should be bought in small quantities and ground as needed.

Eggs are porous, and for this reason should never be placed near food of strong flavor.

Soup should be unwrapped and piled in an open place to dry.

Fruit should be spread out to prevent decay, and all portions of decayed fruit should be at once removed.

Oiled papers that come in cracker boxes and other foods for wrapping should be carefully saved. They are useful for many things, wrapping sandwiches, eggs and are especially good after the second use, for cleaning flat irons while ironing.

One of the old-fashioned wire coffee stands make the best kind of a trivet for use in boiling puddings in a cloth. It is sufficiently high to hold the pudding well up from the bottom of the kettle.

When making ginger cookies, try a cup of coffee left from breakfast for the liquid instead of milk. The flavor is excellent with ginger.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

A YOUNG man whom I know, has what many of his friends term a "soft snap." He works for his older brother, who is very fond of him and allows him many privileges and immunities, besides paying him an excellent salary.

But the other day it became necessary for someone, who was in the confidence of the firm and entirely trustworthy, to do a certain exceedingly difficult and disagreeable piece of work. And, of course, this task fell to the younger brother's lot. In order to do this work, he was obliged to get up at four o'clock every morning for over a month and that in the least pleasant season of the year. He had to do a great deal of hard manual labor, eat in very cheap restaurants and put up with very obnoxious sleeping quarters.

We were speaking of all these discomforts afterwards, and one of those friends who had always enviedly contended that Richard had a "soft snap," admitted that it might not be so soft as we had supposed. "I guess he has some things easy and some things hard like the rest of us," said this man.

My friend—Is there anyone whom you have always had a tendency to envy—anyone who seems to you to live, as it were, on a bed of roses, and never have anything to disturb or disappoint? Believe me, if you knew all about his life, you would find that he also had "some things easy and some things hard, like the rest of us."

There are people who seem to swim through life without ever encountering any cross currents, without ever being touched by want, misfortune, or disappointment. We may not exactly envy them, but we certainly cannot see what possible cause they ever have for unhappiness or dissatisfaction. And yet, if we really knew their daily existence and their innermost thoughts, I'm sure we would find that they too had many things to mar their lives.

It might be that the necessity of bearing with some very disagreeable member of the family was the bitter drop—it might be that the inability to control a fearful temper, some other weakness, or the fear of some inherited disease was the skeleton of his heart's closet. Indeed, any one of innumerable things might be the "something hard" which checkers the existence that looks so perfectly happy to us.

There may be somewhere, sometime an existence in which all things shall be easy and satisfactory, but I don't believe such an existence ever comes to any one in this life. Some things easy and some things hard, light and shadow, day and night, seedtime and harvest—through all the world runs the law of contrast and balance.

So don't fancy it is just in your life that some things are easy and some things hard. It is everywhere.

NOW HAT TRIMMINGS ARE DIRECTLY IN FRONT.

New York City.—There is a marvellous suggestion about the hat trimmings, but there is a decided smartness, nevertheless, about the new styles. This hat of cream millan is trimmed with a band of tan crocheted lace, laid over purple velvet and the feather ornament is in shades of violet and purple.

Small Cause for Wonder.

A sergeant in the Bavarian army was discharged the other day on account of lung disease. It appeared that for several years he had been in the habit of drinking 20 quarts of beer per diem. No wonder his lungs were worn out. He must have spent about 14 hours a day holding his breath.

First Idea of Banking.

The rise of banking in London may be said to date from 1672, when the king complicated the amounts outstanding at the credit of the wealthy goldsmiths, said Charles Welch recently, speaking at the London institution.

DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist

VARIED VIEWPOINTS ON RESTORING HEALTH.

It has been maintained in these hints that the crux of health and disease is nutrition. Mechanical systems, including osteopathy, regard the body as a machine, holding that when there is perfect action, freedom of all the parts, in harmonious action, there is health. Superfluous food clogs the machine. The remedy from this point of view is to adjust the machine, removing the mechanical obstructions with harmonious, easy action. The mental scientist regards the body as the mind's instrument and bad mental conditions as interfering with the normal discharge of its functions, some going so far as to insist that the sovereign mind can digest all foods with equal facility and overrule the effects of injuries to the machine without mechanical interference. The chemist would control physiologic processes by medication, without special reference to the mental condition or to the mechanism. The germ theory holds that certain diseases result directly from infection, but that it may be merely incidental to deranged nutrition, as we have come to realize of consumption, diabetes, rheumatism and typhoid—each of which has its specific germ—and as I believe will soon be recognized in the case of cancer. This is important because it gives a proper viewpoint, a scientific foundation for practice of the healing art.

Thought for Today

By MRS. ROBERT M. LAFOLLETTE

SCIENCE IN THE KITCHEN.

MRS. ISABEL HENRIOT, of the University of Illinois, president of the American Home Economics Association, which met recently in Washington, considers "domestic science" a term broad enough to cover much more than the formal courses in that subject taught in the schools. She deplores the fact that housekeepers often consider these courses something alien to their own methods, instead of recognizing that their own methods, so far as they are successful and efficient, are at bottom scientific. The colored mammy who has never looked inside a cook book makes her "light bread" and her toothsome dainties on scientific principles. Science is the basis of all correct cooking, whether done in the home kitchen by the cook, unlearned in books, or by the trained demonstrator in the cooking laboratory.

Variety in details is quite consistent with agreement in essentials. A scientific treatise on bread-making gives hundreds of ways of making bread, but none of them recommends scalding the yeast. Bread-making, cheese-making, the cooking of meats, vegetables and fruits, the making and use of soap, the boiling of clothes—all these things and hundreds of other household processes rest on correct scientific principles, but the processes were evolved ages before the principles were formulated.

With this principle once clearly recognized, however, progress in methods is much more rapid than when each step ahead is gained at the expense of numerous mistakes and failures. The woman, therefore, who says, when domestic science is mentioned, "I don't see any use in it. I've always got along very well in my housekeeping without it," is doubly mistaken. In the first place, domestic science can aid her in the development of her methods, and she can aid it through her practical experience.

A BLOUSE AND HAT FOR SPRING MATINEE WEAR.

Apt Misquotation.

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING.

Fillet Crochet Leads in Decorating Table and Bed Linen.

Fillet crochet is seen about the house even more than was that- tonburg lace a few years ago and it is serviceable, effective and fascinating to the worker. Fillet crochet is a very old form of needlework and bears little relation to the nondescript edgings and insertions so commonly made. The needle must be adapted to the thread and the work be done rather closely. Above all it must be uniform so that one part will not

The Great Public Pulse Says: CALUMET

It says "Calumet" — For the critical housewives of America have found that Calumet Baking Powder makes the most appetizing, light, wholesome food — that Calumet is the most economical and dependable of all Baking Powders.

If you, too, Mrs. Housewife, want to learn what Calumet means to you, bake with it just one batch of biscuits. If you don't find it unlike any other — so much greater in leavening power — in uniformity — in purity — return it, and get your money back.

That's all we ask — and think what it means to you to always be sure that each time you bake you will have the most tempting biscuits, pastry, etc. Think of it — the highest quality Baking Powder at a moderate price — the most economical in use. Cheap big can kinds give you quantity, but not quality. High-priced trust brands mean extravagance. For no Baking Powder can be equal in quality to Calumet. Was not that proven when it received the Highest Award at World's Pure Food Exposition?

Don't be deceived — ask for Calumet — and get it.

A LITTLE DANDERINE WILL MAKE YOUR HAIR LUSTROUS, SOFT, FLUFFY, ABUNDANT

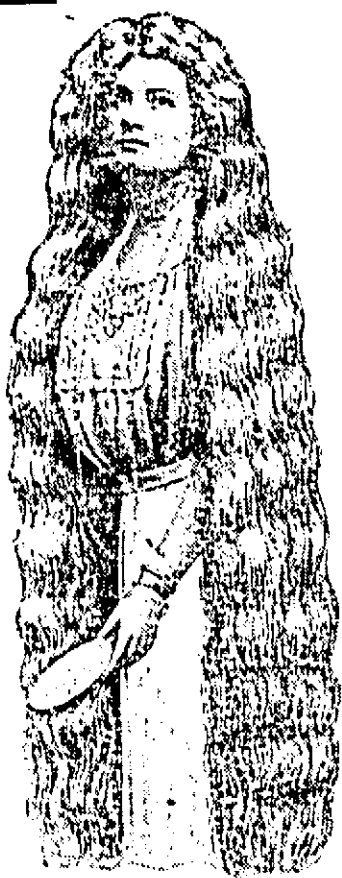

Get a 25 Cent Bottle Now and Forever Stop Falling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff

If you Wish to Double the Beauty of your Hair in Ten Minutes surely Try a Danderine Hair Cleanse

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

A delightful surprise awaits particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Try as you will, after one application of Danderine you cannot find any dandruff or a loose or falling hair, and your scalp will never itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair sprouting all over the scalp. Danderine makes the hair grow long, heavy and lustrous and we can prove it. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

"My, Look at Those Pimples!"

There's No Excuse for Blotches, Blackheads and Pimples. The Right Way to Get Rid of Them Is by Taking Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

Trial Package Sent Free to Prove It.

Many people are continually using lotions and creams on the face and wondering why they make so little permanent impression upon pimples, blotches and blackheads.

It's because pimples and eruptions come from the inside—from impure blood—and you can't cure them by rubbing stuff on the outside of the face. Purify the blood and the pimples will disappear.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers will often clear the complexion in a few days' time. That's the wonderful part of it—they act right off—in a hurry. That's because they're made of just the ingredients needed to drive all poisons and impurities from the blood. That's why doctors prescribe them so constantly.

You will speedily enjoy a beautiful complexion if you use these wonderful Little Wafers. Your face will become as clear and pure as a rose. Nobody likes to have pimply-faced people around. With Stuart's Calcium Wafers you don't have to wait for months before getting results. Even boils have been cured in a few days' time with these remarkably effective blood cleansers. Your whole system will feel better in a marvelously short time, and, my, what a difference in your looks.

Write today for a free trial package of Stuart's Calcium Wafers. Address: P. A. Stuart Co., 175 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich. When you've proved to yourself how good they are, you can get a full-sized package at any drug store for 50 cents.

ATTENTION CALLED TO A FEDERAL LAW

C. M. & St. P. Passenger Agent Urges Care in Shipment of Explosives And Cites Terms of Law.

H. B. Earling, assistant general passenger agent of the C. M. & St. P. road has issued a circular which has been sent to the station agents of the road warning them in regard to the shipment of explosives and citing the terms of the federal law regulating such transportation. He quotes from a memorandum received from Col. B. W. Dunn, chief inspector of the bureau for safe transportation of explosives and other dangerous articles:

"It has come to the attention of the bureau of Explosives, American Railway Association, that many of the users of explosives and especially miners who are foreigners and not conversant with the English language or the requirements of the federal law, are in the habit of including packages of explosives in their baggage checked in the usual way on a passenger train and in packages of household furniture shipped in the usual way by freight."

Forbids Concealed Shipment.

"The federal law strictly forbids a concealed shipment of explosives or the transportation of explosives on passenger trains even when declared. Packages of explosives must be packed in their regular shipping containers properly marked and accompanied by shipping orders of the usual form. The penalty provided for violations of the federal law are severe and may equal a fine not to exceed $2,000, with or without imprisonment not to exceed 18 months."

"Many violations of the kind described above have been reported and in all such cases where the evidence was sufficient to warrant conviction prosecutions have been started. Guilty parties even when their action was due to ignorance have been fined and imprisoned; ignorance is no excuse for violation of the kind. As examples, it may be stated that miners and other parties have taken kegs of blasting powder and even packages of loose sticks of dynamite mixed with household goods and shipped in loose paper packages into the smoking cars of passenger trains. In other cases whisky tubs and barrels supposed to contain only household goods have been found to contain loose powder and sticks of dynamite."

Affects Public Safety.

"This is a matter that affects public safety and this information should be used not only by parties to prevent their own practices from being in violation of the law, but each person should do all in his power to spread this information in the interest of public safety and to prevent violations by all parties."

"Public spirited citizens willing to assist in promoting the safety of the public in this respect and possessing information or suggestion that would be valuable are requested to correspond with or call on Colonel B. W. Dunn, Chief Inspector, 30 Vesey St., New York City."

STATE INTERESTED IN GOOD HIGHWAYS

Meeting of Annual Road School Held at Madison Most Satisfactory to Road Commissioners.

The first annual road school held in Madison, February 12-14, was a great success, according to a bulletin issued by the state highway commission. Over two hundred delegates, county highway commissioners, purchasing committees, and citizens of the state were in attendance, and the published program was carried out to the letter. Some things that characterized this gathering are deserving of special mention.

First: The five days' session revealed the fact that the entire state is interested in the question of good roads, and the new state aid law. Fifty-four counties were represented at this gathering, which is a fore-runner of a new era in road construction in Wisconsin.

Second: The personnel, earnestness and general intelligence of the county highway commissioners, and men appointed to supervise the work for the counties, impressed everyone. These men attended the meetings faithfully each day, and the discussions and questions asked, displayed a willingness to learn the best and most scientific methods of road-building.

Third: A better understanding of the work being undertaken under the new law. If anyone came with prejudice, it was dispelled before the sessions were through. Everyone went away impressed with the greatness and the equity of the project undertaken.

Fourth: It afforded an excellent opportunity for the Wisconsin Highway Commission and its staff to meet the men who will direct the work in the state this year. The delegates received a great deal of information about the work of road-building and financing, not only from the regular program, but through the exchange of ideas in personal intercourse with the road commissioners from other counties, and with members of the engineering force of the highway commission.

The first Road School was a great success, and the entire session was characterized by the earnestness, cordiality, and good-fellowship with which various phases of the big work under the new law were discussed.

YOUR UPSET, SOUR, GASSY STOMACH IS RELIEVED IN A FEW MINUTES

Take a Little Diapiesin now and your Stomach will tell fine in five minutes.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapiesin in the house as any one of you may have an attack of indigestion or Stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome distressed, out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pope's Diapiesin, and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal cramping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pope's Diapiesin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery at any drug store, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure almost any chronic case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other Stomach trouble.

Against this wall stood a large discarded scene from the Ito de Lahoro. Close to this scene was a set piece. Between the scene and the set piece there was just room for a body . . . for a body which one day was found hanging there. The body of Joseph Biquet.

The Persian, still kneeling, stopped and listened. For a moment, he seemed to hesitate and looked at Raoul; then he turned his eyes upward, toward the second cellar, which went down the faint glimmer of a lantern, through a canopy between two boards. This glimmer seemed to trouble the Persian.

At last, he tossed his head and made up his mind to act. He slipped between the set piece and the scene from the Ito de Lahoro, with Raoul close upon his heels. With his free hand, the Persian felt the wall. Raoul saw him bear heavily upon the wall, just as he had pressed against the wall in Christine's dressing-room. Then a stone gave way, leaving a hole in the wall.

This time, the Persian took his pistol from his pocket, and made a sign to Raoul to do as he did. He cocked the pistol.

And, resolutely, still on his knees, he wiggled through the hole in the wall. Raoul, who had wished to pass first, had to be content to follow him.

The hole was very narrow. The Persian stopped almost at once. Raoul heard him feeling the stones around him. Then the Persian took out his dark lantern again, stooped forward, examined something beneath

DON'T SAY YOU'RE OLD

You Only Feel Old

Digestive organs are weak—don't assimilate food as they used to. Other organs act more slowly and less effectively.

Blood is thin and sluggish.

Renewal of strength does not equal the wear and tear of your system.

That's what makes you feel old.

Nothing in the world will tone up and invigorate those weak, back-aching organs, make rich blood and create strength so quickly as Vinol.

Vinol is not a secret nostrum, simply the medicinal elements of the cod liver, with the useless nauseating oil eliminated, and tonic iron added. Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not make you stronger, feel younger and give you an added interest in life.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.
WOMAN SUFFRAGE
(By Howard L. Hann.)

The woman suffrage movement is an invidious scheme to deprive man of his inherent rights and privileges as a superior being. Nobody questioned man's right to run things in this country until some woman rose up in divided skirts and reached out for the Australian ballot. Just now there is a good deal of this reaching and holding done, and in some states the straight ticket can be heard above the language of the woman's voice. Unless man wants to become a mere fixture in the home, like the hand-painted dolly he must put his iron heel on the usurper just before she utters. If this thing keeps up, we may expect to see our leading citizens engaged in carrying dinner dishes in blue aluminum and a hopeless look, while their wives attend the caucus and pack the county central committee. Things will come to a pretty pass if a man who has married money and not much of anything else is not to be allowed to vote his wife's account in any direction he sees fit. One of the most unreasonable occurrences we ever heard of is for a woman who deposits a large lunch of bright, new taxes in the county treasury twice a year to object to paying taxes for people who are perfect strangers to her, and most of whom are in an entirely different set. This is the kind of a woman who usually becomes incensed when her husband, in a fit of absent-mindedness, takes a pale green checkbook and signs her name instead of his own. If woman is to have the ballot, man might as well learn to tame the electric iron and pump up the vacuum cleaner. Think of man, the inventor of the steam locomotive, the ocean cable and the hair switch, being pushed out of the voting booth and obliged to poll the contents of the oleomargarine bucket! This thought is sickening.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Gazette, Feb. 22, 1872—Chicago, Feb. 22.—The first passengers who have reached this city from San Francisco by railroad in 28 days arrived here last night at 11 o'clock. They numbered 160 and came from Omaha via Rock Island road.

The people of Milwaukee are again discussing the lake cable question. The contract for building the new railroad from Racine to Chicago has been let to B. L. Langdon and Co., of Minneapolis.

The Broadhead Dramatic Company are rehearsing regularly and contemplate giving Damon and Pythias on the 29th instant.

The thermometer indicated 34 degrees above at seven o'clock this morning and 50 above at 2 o'clock P. M. A double team attached to a farm wagon ran away yesterday on South Main St. Nobody hurt.

Movement is on foot to perfect the organization of what is to be known as the Janesville Jockey Club for the purpose of bringing horse racing at the driving park under the control of the rules of the National Association.

The advantage of having the sidewalk lower than the pavement is demonstrated on West Milwaukee street. It is a good sidewalk for ducks.

We intended to have made mention of the impropriety of sitting down on the cross walks during the present soft weather. The necessity of such a statement had slipped our mind and we are only reminding our duty to the public by noticing that several of our fellow citizens have been sponging off the pavement today.

George Ide was driving in from the Rock River House this morning, with his wife and another lady, and when opposite J. C. Echlin's house, in the first ward, his horses took fright and became unmanageable. Turning the corner on Main St. Tallman's residence the buggy was wrecked against a shade tree and its occupants thrown out. They were all badly hurt and bruised but suffered no severe injury. The partial fracture of the collar bone of one of the ladies.

BEE-KEEPERS WARNED REGARDING DISEASE

American Foul Brood Found to Exist in Rock County According to Agricultural Department.

The United States Department of Agriculture has announced the fact that American foul brood has been found to exist in Rock County. The Department has no means of knowing how long the disease has existed in the region, but desires to notify beekeepers of the trouble and to suggest that, if not already informed concerning the disease, they inform themselves at once. Very frequently colonies of bees are destroyed by disease and the loss is attributed by the bee keeper to some other cause. Farmers' Bulletin No. 442, The Treatment of Bee Diseases, gives a description of the brood diseases and methods of treatment. It will be sent free on request to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

D. C. is also called to the fact that the brood diseases do not at all injure honey for human consumption, so that there need be no fears on the part of purchasers of honey.

ORFORDVILLE

Orfordville, Feb. 22.—The teachers enjoyed a vacation today it being a holiday in honor of Washington's birthday.

Wm. Starn had a sale on the Roen place yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Donahue of Broadhead, called on Mr. and Mrs. Claude Grenawalt, Wednesday.

Guests at Hotel Reader Tuesday: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. McNamory, Pittsburgh, Penn.; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Love, Pittsburgh, Penn.; H. W. Johnson, Madison; P. W. Vandy, Edgemoor; W. J. McNulty, Janesville; Geo. H. Swift, Fort Atkinson; H. S. Schell, Fort Atkinson; E. G. Jones, Milwaukee.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that it is curable. Catarrh is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. J. A. Denning's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Therefore, by destroying the foundation of the disease, and curing the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing her work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Address: J. A. DENNING & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

How Cold Affects the Kidneys.

Avoid taking cold if your kidneys are sensitive. Cold congests the kidneys, throws too much work upon them, and weakens their action. Serious kidney trouble and even Bright's disease may result. Strengthen your kidneys, get rid of the pain and soreness, build them up by the timely use of Foley's Kidney Pills. They will cure any case of kidney or bladder trouble not beyond the reach of medicine. No medicine can do more. Badger Drug Co.

A Warning Against Wet Feet

Wet and macerated feet usually affect the mucous membrane of the nose, throat and lungs, and in grippe, bronchitis or pneumonia may result. Watch carefully, particularly the children, and for the racking stubborn coughs give Foley's Kidney and Tar Compound. It soothes the inflamed membranes, and heals the rough, quickly. Mrs. A. A. Swagel, Kesh, Wis., says: "I always give Foley's Kidney and Tar Compound to my children. It cures their coughs and colds and they like to take it." Badger Drug Co.

TRAVEL.

No more the aeroplane rises out on breezes soft and pleasant; We are content to plod about in overshoes at present.

UNCLE WALT
The Poet Philosopher
Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams
BY WALT MASON

Ah, toothache is a fell disease that makes the victim's marrow freeze, the while his wallows, on the breeze, disturb his neighbors; while toothache reminds his swollen jaws the people's cause, or useful labor. He doesn't care a rod ding-dong about the shilling peals of song, he doesn't wish to right a wrong, his brave lance breaking; though public wrath be growing warm, he only howls for chloroform to stop that aching. The ship of states might go to hang against the rocks where strong seas, he slapsly wouldn't care a dang, he'd let it founder; what though the nation's sharks break down his jawbones rolls an acher, a real hot ground. Even as I write, there haunts my teeth a smoking pain, above beneath, that fairly takes my laurel wreath, my withers wringing; and nothing else seems worth my while but using language out of style; I do not dance. I do not smile, I am not singing.

TOOTACHE he has no use for moral laws, the uplift or the people's cause, or useful labor. He doesn't care a rod ding-dong about the shilling peals of song, he doesn't wish to right a wrong, his brave lance breaking; though public wrath be growing warm, he only howls for chloroform to stop that aching. The ship of states might go to hang against the rocks where strong seas, he slapsly wouldn't care a dang, he'd let it founder; what though the nation's sharks break down his jawbones rolls an acher, a real hot ground. Matters of Good Memory.

Barages have good memories. They rarely make a false or erroneous motion. They have mastered their surroundings and there are no new things to distract their memory cells. They keep their memory cells un-crowded. The civilized man is at a great disadvantage. He sees some new thing every hour. His brain cells are a veritable, dancing, whirling, seething nest of memories. It is not any great wonder that he cannot recall the one he needs just when he needs it.

Oilcloth Wrinkle.

Very little water should be used in washing oilcloth, as some of it will wash through the cloth beneath and rot it. Use a flannel cloth well wrung out and wipe the floor until clean. Sal soda will aid greatly. Wipe the white spots caused by spilling any hot liquid on the oilcloth with a few drops of ammonia.

Making Safe.

"Did you take list of the 20 greatest women that the editor asked you to prepare?" "Not on your life! But I've told at least a hundred women that they were sure of a place on it."
